New York-based Kensington Vanguard National Land Services — an independent full-service national title insurance and settlement firm — has expanded into Dallas.

The company recently opened an office at 2525 McKinnon St. in Uptown Dallas.

The new Dallas office will expand the company's national platform and shows Kensington Vanguard's commitment to growing its Texas footprint, CEO Brian Cooper said.

"We are very focused on this market and have aggressive growth plans," Cooper said.

Jennifer Maxwell, a North Texas industry veteran of 21 years, will lead the company's Dallas office.
